Falcon Theatre and Lollipop Theater Network Team Up to Help Kids!

Garry Marshall's Falcon Theatre will make a donation to the organization that brings movies to children in hospitals.

The Falcon Theatre is proud to announce that it will be making a donation to Lollipop Theater Network in honor of its current family musical, Cindy and the Disco Ball. “We’re thrilled to be associated with such a wonderful organization as Lollipop Theater Network,” said Garry Marshall, Founder of The Falcon Theatre. “Our kids’ shows at the Falcon have been bringing the magic of theatre to children of all ages ever since we opened our doors. And now, we’re happy to help Lollipop Theater Network bring the magic of movies to kids in hospitals.”

Lollipop Theater Network is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to bringing the magic of movies to children who need it the most, working with the leading Motion Picture Studios to screen current films in hospitals. “Lollipop is grateful and honored to be the benefactor of the events surrounding Cindy and the Disco Ball. The production truly captures the essence of the magic we try to bring to hospitalized children, and 100% of the funds contributed will go directly toward furthering that cause,” said Evelyn Iocolano, Executive Director and Co-founder of Lollipop Theater Network. “We look forward to enriching the lives of even more children through a long-lasting partnership with the Falcon Theatre.”

The Falcon Theatre and Lollipop Theater Network kick-off their partnership on March 1, 2008 at the opening of Cindy and the Disco Ball. The opening gala will be a special “shag carpet” event to which Hollywood celebrities and their kids have been invited, and a 70s Disco Costume Contest, for kids and adults, will follow both the 1pm and 3pm shows!
